Ankita Sweety

A passionate young woman, who has made a name for herself in the Design Fraternity of the country through her pure indulgence in Creativity & Art. With a never-ending craving for excellence in design & an eye for detail, Ankita has envisioned & shaped various projects of a variety of scale, size & manner. She confidently holds the post of Country's Editing Member for World Architecture Community. Conferred as one of India's Top 50 Young Designers by the iGEN DesignForum, 2014, she also holds a position among India's Top 100 Design Divas channeled through Decowood in association with GoodHomes & Trends Design Magazine. Her flamboyant confidence of style & her constant urge to excel has led the Studio to win numerous Design Awards.

As a WADe Woman & a WADe Winner, how would you contribute towards the cause & other fellow professionals?

Through mentoring Young Women Architects who are fresh graduates & interns. They are raw & can be molded in a way that can be helpful for their career as well as the industry. Our studio hires without biases towards Girls and Boys, and treats everyone equally which encourages them to perform better.

WADe Asia is much more than the 2 days of event. It is the cause of making the work of women in design, art & architecture visible. It is for documenting and spreading the work too.

WADe is an amazing concept. An idea to liberate women in a developing country like ours especially in the field of designing is the necessity of the hour. Today, women from all walks of life are doing exceptionally inspirational work and to recognise them and to bring them together onto a single platform is a great initiative.

“I feel the times are changing for better, but still a long way to achieve a perfect harmony of equality & peace. On a lighter note, at several occasions, I myself have been mis-judged for being an Interior Designer rather than an Architect that I am, just for a fact that I am a woman. I think it’s high time we should work towards being educated than just being literate.”

WADe is doing a great job, keep spreading the ways to inspire!
